May 15-19, 2011

Hilton Atlanta Hotel

Atlanta, Georgia, USA

Presentations and publications on all aspects of wear are welcome. Topics include, but are not limited to: wear phenomena, mechanism, monitor, measurement, prediction, theoretical modeling and experimental verification.

The deadline for submissions of Short Abstracts is Oct. 1, 2010. Interested authors can submit their abstracts through the society's improved online process at <http://stle2011.abstractcentral.com/>.

Abstracts received after this date will be put on waitlist. Authors will be notified once an opening becomes available.

Submission for the 2 to 3 Page Extended Abstracts for the Proceedings CD opens December 15th and ends March 15th at 11:59 PM.

The first step is logging on to www.stle.org and clicking on the STLE 2011 logo in the section of Upcoming Conferences. To learn more about the process and topic areas, click on the link that says Call for Papers Topic List.

To submit your abstract, click on the link that says STLE 2011 Abstract Submission Site. You'll access a set of instructions that direct you on how to create your own account.

Some 1,300 members of the tribology and lubrication engineering communities are expected in Georgia for next year's conference. In addition to 350 technical presentations, the 2011 STLE event features education courses, an 80+ exhibitor trade show, the popular Commercial Marketing Forum and an unparalleled opportunity to network with peers from around the globe.
